Case Study

Porcelain Pool Surround, Frodsham, Cheshire

The owners of this prestige house in Frodsham, Cheshire had a new pool added with top quality porcelain tiles selected for the paved terrace surround. They had been advised to be sure that the joint mortar that they used would not discolour or stain the tiles and that it was suitable for the narrow joints between these larger format pavers. It was also extremely important that the joint mortar would be durable and stand up to this tough poolside environment.

After researching the subject online and speaking with their paving suppliers, they contacted CR Services, who they found had provided many successful solutions for these demands on other projects.

Following their past positive experience, CRS immediately recommended the use of GftK's vdw 815+ Paving Joint Mortar from NCC Streetscape, as the best joint mortar for use on this project as it is designed for narrow joints.

A huge advantage for both CR Services and the home owner is that GftK's vdw 815+ is quick and easy to install by wet-slurry application, which also means no waiting for dry weather forecasts during British Summertime.
